

I was on a trip with my brownies group and I fell in the lake. I heard a scream and a little animal that looked a bit peculiar it looked like a goat but the eyes were like a lizard it was so tiny that I could fit it in my pocket.

When I got home I found a old shoe box I poked a few little air holes in the bottom sides and the top. When she looked at me I noticed she had lime green eyes and smokey grey fur and she smelled like water lilies.

I named her Jasmine Lily and when I kiss her nose she gives me a wish but only one wish a day or I might hurt her. So I had to think very hard of what I wanted my wish to be, so I carefully put her to bed as she was very tired, and then I got in bed and fell asleep quickly and dreamt of wishes and flowers.

When I woke after my deep sleep I was so excited, butterflies danced in my belly, I had a wish in my mind something that would change the world. I called Jasmine Lily to my side, then I placed a gentle kiss on her cute button nose, I closed my eyes and wished , for covid 19 to be gone for good and all the sick to be healed

The roar, so loud it rippled the ocean
Howling like the wind
Enchanted creature so misunderstood

Demon claws,so sharp and dangerous
Raging hot fire spewing for its nostrils, so flared
Armed with scales like snakeskin ,as black and deadly as gleaming coal
Gravity doesn't pull it down as it flies through the night sky
Oh so powerful and majestic
No one more fierce than the mighty dragon
